Coaching Staff

Edwardsville Little Tigers Football Club will assist head coaches in selecting assistant coaches with the input of the head coach.

Communications

The Head Coach should work closely with the Squad Manager to communicate team news, Edwardsville Little Tigers Football Club news, and special events to the team parents. The Head Coach should also communicate their expectations to the cheerleaders, the parents, and coaching staff when the teams are determined. Email is the preferred communication tool but team or parent meetings can also be scheduled before or after practice. Regular meetings with the coaching staff are also encouraged.

Keep lines of communication open with parents. After each practice, you should gather parents for announcements and communicate issues related to the team. Communicate to parents that unruly or inappropriate comments from the sidelines during a game may result in penalties for the team. Cheer Coaches should help the Football Head Coach manage the conduct of a team's fans on the sidelines. Any issues related to conduct of fans should be immediately be communicated to the Cheer Director, Athletic Director and/or President.

All comments or complaints from parents or otherwise should be channeled to through the Head Coach. If issues cannot be resolved, then comments should be channeled to the Cheer Director, and then the Board of Directors of Edwardsville Little Tigers Football Club.

Club Participation

The Little Tiger coaches are the face of the organization. In addition to coaching cheerleading our coaches are expected to be active participants in club events during the season and off-season. Events include registration, equipment handout, parades, Tiger Trivia and the awards banquets. The Little Tiger Football club is a volunteer organization that requires participation from all the club members. Due to family or work commitments it is difficult to participate in all events. However, we expect the coaches to make every attempt to attend the majority of events when volunteers are needed or send representation from your team.

Each Coach should consider putting together a video of pictures and video for their squad for the awards banquets. Many squads work together with the Football Team Manager to create one all-inclusive video. Communicate with managers early in the season to set appropriate expectations. Edwardsville Little Tigers Football Club will not video each game or the cheerleaders. Video presentations at the awards banquets are the responsibility of each cheer squad.

Coaching Meetings

Head coaches are expected to attend all coaching meetings scheduled by the club. If you are unable to attend you will need to contact the Cheer Director and send representation from your team. Coaches are also welcome and encouraged to attend the monthly Little Tiger board meetings. Assistant coaches are expected to attend any mandatory meetings for all coaches and at least 50% of all other mandatory coaching meetings.

Practice Format

Cheerleading requires practice time to be successful. The key to success is preparation and execution. Practice time is critical to the development each cheerleader.

The overall success of each cheerleader, your team, and the Little Tiger Football Club is dependent on productiveness of each and every practice. Practice time is limited so make every minute count. Your team will cheer the way they practice!

- Normal practices are scheduled for 90 minutes per session. Each team will practice during times designated by Edwardsville Little Tigers Football Club and will not exceed 2 hours per session. Any exception to the regular practice schedule should be reviewed with the Cheer Director.
- An extra practice session can be scheduled if additional preparation is needed for an upcoming game. Any “extra” practice should be light, instructional, have purpose, and be well communicated to the parents. Field availability will be limited outside the regular practice schedule designated by Edwardsville Little Tigers Football Club. Any exception to the regular practice schedule should be reviewed with the Cheer Director.
- The head coach should have a backup plan if she is unable to attend practice. Practice should never be canceled because the head coach is unavailable. An assistant coach should be prepared to practice the team in advance or on short notice.
- Each head coach should prepare a written practice plan/schedule for each practice.

- Short water breaks should be taken on a regular basis throughout practice to keep cheerleaders hydrated. Take no chances with heat exhaustion, NO EXCEPTIONS! Let cheerleaders take a break in small groups to minimize disruption that could impact the flow of practice.

Injuries

The safety of each child will be the top priority of every coach. Take each incident seriously and never joke or harass a cheerleader who says they are unable to participate. Never force a cheerleader to cheer or practice against their will.

- Always err on the side caution if a cheerleader is sick, hurt, or injured.
- If a cheerleader says she is sick or hurt then a coach should stabilize the cheerleader and monitor her condition. A cheerleader should not return to action until she says she is ready. Communicate each incident with the parent.
- Injuries are generally more serious than a bump, bruise, or sick stomach and should never be taken lightly. Ice should always be used for injuries that could result in swelling. The parents and club President should be notified immediately when a serious injury has occurred.
- Each coach should have a medical kit in their coaching bag to handle minor injuries such as cuts and scrapes.
- Each team should have ice bags, a water jug, and water bottles at each game.
- Injuries can often be avoided by inspection of practice and game fields. Before beginning to cheer in either a practice or game, inspect all fields to ensure that they are safe.
- If a cheerleader is diagnosed with a concussion, they will not be allowed to play or practice until a release is received from a doctor.

Cheerleader Discipline

For the safety of the cheerleader and their teammates, each cheerleader is expected to participate in practice unless they are injured, has a school activity, or has an excused absence from the coaching staff. At the coaches discretion, if the cheerleader has two unexcused absences in the same week then the cheerleader will be ineligible to participate at the next game. The coach will need to inform the parent of the one game suspension.

Any cheerleader who is suspended from school will be ineligible to participate in practice or games during the duration of the suspension. Any additional discipline should be reviewed with the Cheer Director and club President.

Fighting, cussing, insubordination, unruliness, and any act that takes away from the cheerleading experience for the other cheerleaders will not be tolerated in practice or games. The head coach should address the problem immediately and inform the parent if the problem persists.

Discipline does not include touching a cheerleader when you are angry.

Equipment Management

The Head Coach is responsible for the collection of uniforms and other equipment at the end of the season. The Head Coach is also responsible for collection of uniforms and equipment from any cheerleader that leaves the program prior to the end of the season. The club will provide an inventory sheet to each team that will be used to track the uniform and equipment of each cheerleader. There will be a designated collection day the week following the last game and one makeup date. The Head Coach should contact any cheerleader who does not return her uniform or equipment during one of collection dates and schedule a special collection for that cheerleader. The Cheer Director should be notified if all the equipment is not collected a week prior to the awards banquet.

Coaching Life Skills

The football field is a one of a kind classroom that teaches our cheerleaders many of the life skills that will be important as future adults, parents, spouses, coaches, and employees. Leadership, Integrity, Loyalty, Teamwork, Respect, Discipline, Determination, Courage, and Pride are some of the skills that are characteristics of many cheerleaders. Little Tiger coaches will discuss the meaning and importance of these life skills with the cheerleaders throughout the season. If the coaches make it important then it will become important to your cheerleaders.

Tobacco, Alcohol and Drug Use

Illegal drugs will not be tolerated. Use of excessive alcohol or use of tobacco in the presence of players or cheerleaders will not be tolerated. As a coach, you will not use alcohol or tobacco in the presence of players or cheerleaders, on-field or off-field during the course of the season (the sole exception is an informal gathering at a private residence that is not sponsored by Edwardsville Little Tigers Football Club). You will not consume alcohol in any quantity prior to or during: practices, games, or other official team gatherings, including post- game/season gatherings. You will not use tobacco or alcohol on school property and municipal facilities since it is against Illinois law, and you may be subject to immediate removal as a coach if you do. You will not use illegal drugs or substances. You will not wear any clothing that promotes firearms, alcohol, tobacco products or bars; always dress professional. If (a) you fail any drug test, (b) we have reason to suspect that you are using (or have used) illegal drugs, (c) we have reason to suspect that you are intoxicated while in contact with children participating in Edwardsville Little Tigers Football (whether during club activities or otherwise), we may remove you as a coach or volunteer within Edwardsville Little Tigers Football Club.

Game Day Attitude

One of the key points in becoming an effective coach is choosing the right game day attitude. Actions and reactions on the field will have a lasting effect on kids. The Circle of Criticism and Circle of Affirmation are simple concepts that illustrate the results associated with negative and positive feedback given to the game officials/referees. We expect coaches and game officials/referees to work together as a unified team.

What happens in the Circle of Criticism?

- The Circle of Criticism begins when a coach responds negatively to a right or wrong call made by the referee.
- The coach's example gives the parent the implied permission to react negatively toward the referee.
- A parent's example causes the child to assume that it is acceptable to react in the same way. The result can be a negative attitude toward the referee, who represents authority on the field.

What happens in the Circle of Affirmation?

- The Circle of Affirmation begins when the coach gives a positive response to a right or wrong call made by the referee.
- The coach's example influences the parent to react positively toward the referee.
- A parent's example encourages the child to give a positive response. The result is a positive attitude toward authority.
- The Circle of Affirmation goes beyond the referee. A coach's affirmation of players and cheerleaders inspires encouragement and positive comments from parents, family members, and other players and cheerleaders.

Practicing the Circle of Affirmation makes the game a better experience for everyone involved.
